DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-3, 5-6, 8-9, 12, 15, 17-18, 20-21, 26-28 and 31 are rejected under 35

U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Hsiung et al. (USPUB 2003/0083756).

With regards to claim 1, LeCompte et al. (USPUB 2002/0041328) teaches a method for monitoring operation of a spacecraft, comprising:
retrieving telemetry data from a storage device; (905; See figure 9) processing the telemetry data; (901; See figure 9) and making the processed telemetry data accessible on a network. (1132; See figure 11)

With regards to claim 12, Hsiung et al. (USPUB 2003/0083756) teaches a system for monitoring operation of a spacecraft, comprising:
a storage device for storing telemetry data; (1121; See figure 11) a processor for processing the telemetry data; (1100; See figure 11) and a communications module, which makes the processed telemetry data accessible on a network. (1130; See figure 11)

With regards to claim 21, LeCompte et al. (USPUB 2002/0041328) teaches a method for providing an interactive website which relates to spacecraft operation, comprising:
displaying information on said website which provides an indication of how to obtain data relating to spacecraft operation; (Page 20, paragraph 0238) receiving a request from a user for said data (Page 20, paragraph 0238) retrieving said data from a storage device in response to said request; (See figure 11) and processing said data retrieved in said generating step. (1100; See figure 11)

With regards to claim 31, LeCompte et al. (USPUB 2002/0041328) teaches a method for monitoring operation of a spacecraft, comprising:

Art Unit: 2863

receiving telemetry data from the spacecraft; (Page 3, paragraph 0019) and making the telemetry data accessible on a network on a real-time basis. (1132; See figure 11)

With regards to claim 2, LeCompte et al. (USPUB 2002/0041328) teaches processing and making steps are automatically performed in response to a request received from a customer or technician. (Page 10, paragraph 0161)

With regards to claim 3, LeCompte et al. (USPUB 2002/0041328) teaches that a request is received through the network. (1132; See figure 11)

With regards to claim 5 and 15, LeCompte et al. (USPUB 2002/0041328) teaches making the processed telemetry data accessible on an Internet website. (Page 20, paragraph 0238)

With regards to claim to Claim 6, LeCompte et al. (USPUB 2002/0041328) teaches Internet website is a secure website. (Page 25, Claim 84)

With regards to claim to Claim 8, LeCompte et al. (USPUB 2002/0041328) teaches retrieving, processing, and making steps are automatically performed on a periodic basis. (Page 26, paragraph 0419)

With regards to claim to Claim 13, Hsiung et al. (USPUB 2003/0083756) teaches that a processor controls the communications module to automatically send the processed telemetry data through the network in response to an electronic request. (See figure 11)

With regards to claim to Claim 17, LeCompte et al. (USPUB 2002/0041328) teaches processor automatically processes the telemetry data on a periodic basis. (Page 1, paragraph 0003)

With regards to claim to Claim 18, LeCompte et al. (USPUB 2002/0041328) teaches processor controls the communications module to automatically send the processed telemetry data through the network on said periodic basis. (see figure 11)

With regards to claim to Claim 26, LeCompte et al. (USPUB 2002/0041328) teaches information is an electronic form. (See figure 11)

With regards to claim to Claim 27, Hsiung et al. (USPUB 2003/0083756) teaches electronic form includes a data entry window for allowing a user to specify at least one of a particular spacecraft and a type of data corresponding to operation of said particular spacecraft. (1112, 1161; See figure 11)

With regards to claim to Claim 28, Hsiung et al. (USPUB 2003/0083756) teaches processing step includes: generating a graph of said operation data over a predetermined period of time, and wherein said displaying step includes displaying said graph. (See figure 7 & 1112; figure 11)

Art Unit: 2863

With regards to claim to Claim 9, LeCompte et al. (USPUB 2002/0041328) teaches automatically sending the processed telemetry data to the customer or technician through said network. (1132; See figure 11)

Claim Objections

Claim 21 is objected to because of the following informalities: The fourth step in claim 21 recites "processing said data retrieved in said generating step". There is no antecedent basis for the generating step. Appropriate correction is required.

Claims 4,7,10-11, 13-14, 16, 19, 22-25 and 29-30 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Hsiung et al. (USPUB 2003/0083756) teaches a temporary expanding integrated monitoring network, Gilbert et al.(USPUB 2003/0032426) teaches a aircraft data and voice communications system and method, Ray et al. (USPN 5,878,345) teaches a antenna for non-terrestrial mobile telecommunication system, Webb (USPUB 2002/0023654) teaches a human language translation of a patient session information from implantable medical devices, Ray et al. (USPN 5,878,346) teaches a non-terrestrial cellular mobile telecommunication network, Ray et al. (USPN 6,108,539) teaches a non-terrestrial cellular mobile telecommunication station, and Devereux et al. teaches a global positioning system (GPS) linked satellite and missile communication systems
